THIS DAY'S DOINGS.

Funeral of the late G. Bradley Bishop, at 3:30 o'clock.

Band Cancert at Emma Square at 7:30 (weather permitting). Excelsior Lodge, I.O.O.F., 7:30. Algaroba Lodge, I.O.G.T., 7:30.

FINE PHOTOGRAPHS.

We stepped into Mr. J. Williams' photographic studio on Fort street on Saturday, in our usual pursuit of the curious and beautiful. After looking through the piles of photographs on the table, we began to examine those disposed around the walls of the room. Some were unknown faces others brought up sad me mories. We noticed a very fine portrait of Sam'l Parker now on a visit to Europe, and one of a friend who has but recently passed from

"To that better land unseen." These all but speaking likenesses have been enlarged by the solar process from smaller photographs.

Glancing further round the rooms we came across, one by one, life-size portraits of the Royal Family. Lifelike they beamed upon us from the walls. These pictures have been on exhibition in San Francisco at the Arts Society, where they attracted great attention, and Mr. Williams has only received them back lately. There are portraits of His Majesty, The Queen, H.R.H. Princess Lilinokalani, H.R.H. Princess Likelike and her daughter, H.H. Keelikolani and the late Prince Leleiohoku and also portraits of Princess V. Kamamalu, and the King's mother.

Mr. Williams has lately increased his facilities for embalming your features in the eyes of prosterity, and will still further increase them. He has engaged a talented assistant in the person of Mr. Hermann.

THE ANGLICAN CHURCH

Is a monthly periodical, which made its first appearance on Saturday last, and will continue to be published in future on the first Saturday of each month. As may be inferred from its name, it is the organ of the Hawaiian branch of the English Episcopal Church. It is under the joint editorial control of the Revs. A. Mackintosh and G. Wallace. This first issue contains eight pages of reading matter, with a single page supplement, and four pages of advertisements. The reading matter embraces, in addition to Church news of this and other countries, quite a variety of interesting original and selected articles. editors have certainly produced an first number and by maintaining the standard are bound to ensure success.

SCIENTIFIC, VERY,

Those of our readers who take an interest in what is known as the egerm theory" of disease, and who are familiar with Pasteur's experi-ments with "cultivated virus," will no doubt appreciate the following from a recent medical periodical.

A NEW DIBEASE. A California physician who dis covered a new disease-love madpess-has been experimenting with the person afflicted therewith, and has produced the "love parasite," bacillus micrococcus. This he cultivated up to the twentieth generation, and with the parasites of that generation he inoculated a number of subjects. The inoculation was invariably successful, symptoms of the disease appearing a very short time after the operation. A bachelor, aged fifty, on the first day after the inoculation had his whiskers dyed, ordered a new suit of clothes and a set of false teeth, bought a top buggy, a bottle of hair restorer. a diamond ring and a guitar, and began reading Byron's poems. The inoculation produced symptoms of the same kind in a young lady of forty-five. She spent five dollars at a drug store for cosmetics, bought a lot of new hair and a croquet set, sang "Empty is the Cradle," sent out invitations for a party and complained that the Chico young men do not go into society. An inoculate I youth of seventeen, employed in a country store, did up a gallon of molasses in a paper bag, put the cat in the butter-tub and threw some of the fresh butter out of the window. Finally he sat in a basket of eggs while looking at the photograph of a pretty girl, and was discharged for his carelessness. The Chico doctor is still experimenting, and will soon lay the results of his observations before the medical world.

MR. EDITOR:-I would like to make a few remarks on the subject of Parallax and the transit of Venus, as I have seen an article in last week's Advertiser, in which the writer on these two subjects is sadly out in his calculations or I am. Let us take the facts and figures: First -The two transits of Venus observed in 1874 and 1882 are the repetitions of those in 1761 and 1769. They always come in pairs eight years apart, each one of the two will be repeated in one hundred and thirteen years less or more than six months as a transit of Venus, can only take place between the 5th and the 11th of June or December.

Captain Cook observed the transit of Venus June 7th, 1769. This transit will be repeated on the 6th of this month, one hundred and thirteen years and six months afterwards. It will again be repeated Dec. 8th, 1995, June 8th, 2108, June 7th, 2221, Dec. 8th, 2334. So much for the present transit.

We will see what has been done in the transit of Dec. 7th, 1874. This was partially observed in 1761 in England and Germany. Each fitted out an expedition to observe the transit of 1769. Tahiti and on the River Obi were chosen as stations, and from those observations the mean distance of the sun was determined. These transits have been calculated for all time by adding 113 years to the time of any one transit. They repeat twice in December, and then twice in June. The transit of 1874 will be repeated in 1987, 105 years from now. Where the writer in the Advertiser gets his information from about 122 years I do not know. It does seem that anyone writing on such a subject, would at least consult his school books, for figures tell no falsehoods if properly used. I have made desperate efforts to solve the parallax article; when I was a boy at school I solved this simplest of problems on a blackboard, but this parallax article is too abstruse for me to grapple with, I cannot understand it. W. E. WOOD.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS. Potatoes are now selling at 6 cents a pound, and scarce at that.

THE comet is still visible, though very pale.

The bungalow, in the Palace Yard, is to be decorated with Japanese wall paper. It has already arrived.

THE case brought against officers Marcos and Oadt to test the validity of the search warrants issued to look for concealed opium, was heard on Saturday. Judgment will be delivered on Tuesday.

We have received a neat specimen of wall almanae, printed in three colors, from Messrs. E. O. Hall & Son At the head of it is a model of the obverse of the first dollar struck by the U. S. Mint, for 1776. By a novel arrangement it shows the moon's quarters.

We hear that an " Order of the Glove" will be instituted at the Coronation-the rank of the wearer being designated by the number of buttons.

The inquest on the body of the native man, who died suddenly some weeks ago at Kamoiliili, will be resumed by the Deputy Marshal this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

THE arrival of the steamers on Saturday morning, caused no little perplexity to the cab-drivers-one, especially, making first for one wharf and then for another.

THE Government has been filling up the holes in the streets lately with what seems to be a concentrated essence of mud. Why don't they use rocks?

Prop. Alexander returned from Molokai last week. He states that he has finished the triangulation between Oahu and the windward islands, and now goes on to triangulate Molokai to prepare-for its detailed survey next year.

THE cutting affray on Friday night resulted from a quarrel over a trifling gambling debt of 50 cents in a house on Smith Lane. The two negroes quarrelled there and again in the streets, and when the wounded one went to his room in Fowler's yard the other came behind him and gashed him on the back towards the heart with a razor.
